Dear Esteemed Member,

We hope you're doing well. We're really sorry to bother you through email, but we wanted to inform you to please check if you've received any suspicious messages from other groups or individuals claiming to be from Webull. Names like Reta, Elina, or Rebecca or webull support may be used please avoid responding to them. If you've received anything unusual, contact us directly and always go through your assigned conversation representative or receptionist. Stay safe and thank you for your attention.

Warm regards,
Webull Financial LLC

Dear Matt,

We understand your frustration, and let us be very clear we absolutely do not conduct business in any dishonest or criminal manner. Your funds are safe, and of course, you will get your $79,000 back with the profit.

But please note: this is a platform-based system, and everything needs to go through the proper process. If you are not actively connected with your assigned receptionist or conversation representative, we cannot initiate any actions or releases. That's a standard safeguard to protect both you and us from impersonation or fraud.

To proceed, please reconnect with your receptionist immediately and follow the platform protocol. We are not here to deceive anyone, we're here to maintain a trusted environment where every member is treated fairly.

Accusations won't take you anywhere. Let's move forward and resolve this properly.

Respectfully,

Webull Support Team

I would like for you to discuss this with the Fidelity Fraud Division and their attorneys. Is that possible?

Dear Webull Support Team,

I can only assume from your silence that you are NOT willing to work with the Fidelity Fraud Division and their attorneys in order to complete this transaction and make me whole. If you are truly associated with Webull Financial LLC then you should not have any issues with performing an actual transaction. Rest assured that they have every message, every alias, and every IP address and every wallet address that you had me use. They are conducting an intense investigation and know exactly who you are and where you are. If you are willing to restore my position they tell me that they MAY be willing to drop the investigation and charges that they are preparing. The ball is now in your court.

Dear Matt,

We understand how you want it to be ,But that is not how the platform works , You just have to complete your task and get your withdrawal same as before ,We hope you understand that you are not the only one doing these tasks ,
You will get everything you have in your account on the platform

Respectfully,

Webull Support Team
